TARGET ROLE: Contact Center Representative (Remote) - Ancora Education

PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Customer service professional with 10+ years of experience across healthcare admissions, hospitality, and community outreach, including direct experience scheduling patient and client appointments, handling high call volume, and supporting customers across phone, text, and in-person channels. Skilled in accurate data entry and documentation, escalation resolution, and meeting KPI and quality assurance standards in fast-paced service environments. IT Support-certified with working knowledge of account and password troubleshooting. Comfortable working independently in a remote, metrics-driven role while collaborating across departments to connect customers with the right person, program, or resource. Seeking a Contact Center Representative role supporting Ancora Education's students, staff, and partner schools.

CORE COMPETENCIES

Inbound & Outbound Call Handling - Omnichannel Support (Phone, Chat, Text, Email) - Appointment Scheduling & Coordination - Data Entry & CRM Documentation - Escalation Resolution - Customer Needs Assessment
KPI & Quality Assurance Standards - Password Reset & Basic IT Troubleshooting - Training & Peer Coaching - Cross-Departmental Collaboration - Confidentiality & HIPAA Compliance - Remote & Fast-Paced Work Adaptability

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Community Engagement Specialist

BigHeart Health | 2025 - Present

- Provide outreach and support across phone, text, and in-person channels for the "My Health My Power" initiative, connecting residents to the correct health resource, program, or partner organization - directly comparable to routing callers to the correct vertical, brand, department, or school.
- Document details of every interaction and outcome to maintain accurate, complete records and support consistent follow-up.
- Track engagement metrics and KPIs, reporting results to stakeholders and adjusting approach to meet performance targets.
- Train and coach outreach specialists and volunteers, including shadowing and peer observation, to standardize service quality across a distributed team.
- Assess individual needs and recommend appropriate next steps, resources, or referrals.

Guest Services & Vending Supervisor

Aramark | 2023 - Present

- Handle inbound customer and guest requests, resolving escalated concerns with a high level of quality while maintaining compliance standards.
- Complete transactions and enter service data accurately, documenting interactions to maintain reliable records.
- Train and onboard new team members on service protocols and procedures, reducing ramp-up time and improving consistency across shifts.
- Monitor performance against expectations, identifying gaps and supporting accountable, KPI-driven service delivery.

Guest Experience Manager

Climbzone Chicago | 2020 - 2022

- Served as escalation point for guest concerns and service breakdowns, resolving issues while protecting customer satisfaction.
- Coordinated scheduling and cross-functional communication to keep front-line service running smoothly at a high-traffic facility.
- Coached and trained staff on service standards, improving consistency and guest experience.

Admissions Coordinator

Mount Sinai Hospital | 2014 - 2019

- Scheduled patient appointments and coordinated intake and admissions workflows by phone and in person in a high-volume hospital setting - experience directly transferable to scheduling prospective student appointments and routing callers to the correct department.
- Obtained and accurately entered patient information into registration systems, maintaining documentation and compliance standards.
- Served as a phone- and desk-based liaison between patients, clinical staff, and administrative departments, resolving sensitive questions and issues under strict confidentiality requirements.
- Completed HIPAA compliance training and maintained confidentiality while handling high call and patient volume.

NOTES FOR STEPHON (delete before sending):

- The strongest keyword match here is Mount Sinai: "Schedules appointments for Admissions representatives to meet with prospective students" in the JD lines up almost exactly with your real patient-appointment-scheduling and intake-liaison work, so I led with that framing in the bullet rather than burying it.
- I tied your Google/IBM IT Support certs to the "assist students with resetting passwords via an internal tool" and "assist the Help Desk team with basic troubleshooting" duties (Tier 1/Tier 2) - this is honest (you hold the certs) and gives you a real edge over candidates without IT background.
- I did NOT claim experience with any specific dialer, CRM, or ticketing platform (e.g., Salesforce, Genesys, Zendesk) since none are in your history - if you've actually used one, tell me and I'll add it by name for the keyword match.
- I did not add fabricated call volumes, QA scores, or headcount numbers. If you have real numbers (calls/day, patients scheduled per shift, team size trained), send them and I'll fold them in - quantified bullets score better with both ATS and human reviewers.
- Kept your real titles rather than relabeling them "Contact Center Representative" or "Tier 1/Tier 2 Agent" - honest framing, and hiring managers do check.
- This is a $20-21/hr entry-to-mid frontline role; your resume is naturally senior for it (10+ years, supervisory titles). That's not a flaw, but if you're worried about looking "overqualified," you could add a one-line note in your cover letter about wanting remote, stable, metrics-driven work right now - hiring teams usually just want reassurance you won't leave in 3 weeks.
